Hello,

I'd just like to voice my opinion against the current Microsoft settlement. Any action that does not significantly impair Microsoft from crushing further competition in the computer software and hardware markets will fail to encourage healthy competition and lead to the stagnation of said markets. Microsoft has engaged in exceedingly anti-competative action and threatens to undercut developement. Recently, they purchased a good portion of the intellectual property of their only competitor in the 3D graphics field, SGI, and continue to flaunt there disregard for the US legal process and anti-monoply laws.

The settlement, as it stands, is bad for every business in America except Microsoft, and bad for the American people.

Thanks for your time,
Chris Bergeron
